

THE LIAM & FRANKIE DAVISON AWARD 2017

The Royal Australian and New Zealand
College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists
Excellence in Women's Health

For outstanding achievement in literary writing on an issue in women's health

YOU COULD WIN $1000*

Applications are now open for the 2017 Liam and Frankie Davison Award offered by the Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists (RANZCOG); an award that recognises outstanding achievement in literary writing on an issue in women's health.

APPLICATIONS CLOSE
30 April 2017

WRITE ABOUT ANY ISSUE IN WOMEN'S HEALTH!

In 2016, there were both fictional and non-fictional pieces addressing a broad range of women's health issues including: anorexia, women's rights, infertility, termination of pregnancy and violence against women.

SENIOR SECONDARY STUDENTS

Applications are open to students resident in Australia or New Zealand who are in their final three years of secondary school (generally Years 10, 11 or 12 in Australia and Years 11, 12 or 13 in New Zealand).

HOW TO APPLY

Submit a completed Application Form and an original literary piece of up to 2000 words on any topic of interest in women's health.

MORE INFORMATION:

For full Terms and Conditions of Entry, the application form and previous years' winning entries visit: www.ranzcog.edu.au/about/foundation/Liam-and-Frankie-Davison-Award or contact the Foundation Coordinator t: +61 3 9417 1699 e: lfaward@ranzcog.edu.au

* Up to two awards offered; winning entrant(s) will receive $1000 in AUD or NZD as applicable, based on country of residence.